FIVE COLLEGE NATIVE AMERICAN AND INDIGENOUS STUDIES ANNUAL SYMPOSIUM

Traditional Ecological Knowledge
Braiding Story, Skills and Sustenance with Hope for a Sustainable Future

Thursday, April 6–Saturday, April 8, 2017

THURSDAY, 6:30 P.M.
Reception and film, “The Spirit of Standing Rock”
Cape Cod Lounge, UMass Amherst

FRIDAY, 9 A.M.–5 P.M.
Symposium
Cole Assembly Hall, Amherst College

FRIDAY, 6:30 P.M.
Reception and reading
Cole Assembly Hall, Amherst College

SATURDAY, 10 A.M.
Plant Walk for Symposium Participants
Amherst College

This symposium will build bridges among cultural heritage, ecology, economics and ethics by exploring Indigenous ecological knowledge and how to adapt to environmental change.

fivecolleges.edu/nais

Co-sponsors: Five College Native American and Indigenous Studies Program, College of Menominee Nation Sustainable Development Institute, UMass School of Earth and Sustainability, Amherst College Dean of Faculty, UMass Native American and Indigenous Studies Certificate Program, UMass Department of Anthropology, Hampshire College School of Critical Social Inquiry, Mount Holyoke College History Department, Amherst College Departments of English, Environmental Studies and American Studies, Gedakina

Amherst College | Hampshire College | Mount Holyoke College | Smith College | University of Massachusetts Amherst